

2005 “The E.W.P.” SHIRAZ

Colour: Deep red – almost black.

Aroma: Super ripe blackberry and plum with spice, coffee grounds and dark chocolate. Also has notes of roasted meats and grilled nuts. Quite complex.

Palate: A medium bodied palate with good concentration of the dark berry fruit, charry oak and chocolate. Fine grained tannins and balanced acidity keep the palate focused and finishing long.

Summary: A complex wine that changes in the glass as it breathes. It is a substantial wine that still manages to retain a degree of elegance. Difficult to see this maturing before 2025.
